We have more than 2000 has to select the best grapes of every vintage.

ELABORATION

It has been made from our native variety, the Garnacha Tintorera, which gives to our wines singularity as well as color and structure. The vinification is carried out by carbonic maceration to obtain a young wine with a very good aromatic intensity, of fast consumption which is pleasant to drink after the first months of its bottling.

It has been fermented to 28°C with a contact time with entire grape of 8-9 days. Then, it finished the fermentation in concrete tanks to a controlled temperature of 20°C. After the malolactic fermentation the coupage is made, to finish the process with a light clarification and stabilization by cold. The last step before bottling is an amicrobic filtration to keep all its organoleptic features.
